The Story Behind the Service: Councillor Jessie Dosanjh Previews New Campaign Video and a Unified Vision for Delta

DELTA, BC – Following his formal re-election announcement earlier this season, the Achieving for Delta campaign is giving residents a closer look at the personal story and values driving incumbent City Councillor Jessie Dosanjh. In anticipation of a new campaign video launching later week, this follow-up statement highlights Dosanjh's deeply rooted commitment to Delta, exploring his path from community advocate to one of the city's most trusted public voices.

While local voters recognize Dosanjh from his years of public service—spanning both his impactful tenure as a Delta School Board Trustee and his current term on City Council—his motivation remains deeply personal, centered on youth development, community equity, and cultural unity.

"When people see my name on a ballot, I want them to know exactly who I am working for," said Councillor Jessie Dosanjh. "I am a father, a neighbor, and a proud resident who believes that Delta's strength lies entirely in its people. Every decision I make on Council comes back to a single question: Are we making our community a place where every child, family, and business has an equal and fair shot at success?"

From Grassroots Advocate to Council Chamber

Dosanjh's legacy of service is defined by a rare bridge of experience between education and municipal governance. As a former School Board Trustee (2018-2022), he championed strategic alignment between school resources and city programming. On City Council, that passion translated into multi-million-dollar investments in local parks, state-of-the-art tracking facilities, and multi-sport surfaces designed to keep Delta's youth active, safe, and engaged.

The upcoming video release offers a behind-the-scenes look at the individual behind those policies, sharing his vision for an inclusive economy and accessible community spaces.

Part of a Unified, Representative Team

For Dosanjh, this particular election marks a defining moment in Delta's history. Running alongside Mayor George Harvie, Dosanjh emphasizes that the current Achieving for Delta slate represents the truly collaborative, unified approach he has long envisioned for local governance.

"I have never been more pleased to be part of a team than I am right now," Dosanjh added. "This group brings together a profound mix of different cultures, unique professional backgrounds, and diverse perspectives. But more importantly, we share a singular, common goal: ensuring every resident has an equitable stake in their community. We are moving past the old ways of doing things to deliver a modern, inclusive city. I am incredibly proud to stand with Mayor George Harvie to see this vision through."

The forthcoming campaign video will be rolled out across Facebook, Instagram, and official digital platforms in the coming days.
